

MIAMI New Times

The Five Best Places to Buy Bespoke Chocolates in Miami for Valentine's Day

BY VALERIA NEKHIM LEASE

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 2017 AT 9:09 A.M.

Le Roy René in Brickell City Centre. Courtesy of Calissons du Roy René

Le Roy René

Le Roy René recently opened at Brickell City Centre, but the Aix-en-Provence, France-based sweets shop has been around since 1920. The company's signature treat is the calisson, which means “little hug” in Provençal. It's a blend of finely ground Mediterranean sweet almonds, Provençal melon, and orange peel on a wafer bed covered with icing. The candies resemble flower petals and come in an array of colors and flavors (starting at $3.90 for a box of two). In addition to offering its famous calissons, Le Roy René also sells beautiful chocolates, nougats, biscuits, and other candy.